SUMMARY

25X1D

25X1D

Two secured storage areas, one probably explosives storage and the other general storage, are located on the west edge of Kharkov (Figure 1).

The probable explosives storage area covers approximately 45 acres, is double secured and encircled by a firebreak, and contains 17 probable explosives storage buildings and 3 support buildings.

The general storage area is secured and contains 18 storage buildings. Immediately east is a support area containing one probable administration building and 3 probable barracks (Figures 2 and 3).

The area was covered by [REDACTED] TALENT photography and [REDACTED] KEYHOLE missions between [REDACTED]. Changes in facilities since [REDACTED] include the addition of an administration and a barracks building. Light ground scarring in [REDACTED] indicated low level usage of the facilities.

The military significance of these installations has not been determined.

DESCRIPTION OF INSTALLATION

25X1D

25X1D

Railroad Service

The installations are located 0.5 kilometers (km) north of the nearest rail facility.

Road Service

Both installations are served by secondary roads which connect with the all-weather Kharkov-Poltava highway.

Administrative and Troop Housing Area

Area D contains 3 probable barracks and a probable administration building. These buildings provide support for storage Area E. The probable administration building was added between [REDACTED]

25X1D

and one barracks has been added since [REDACTED]

General Storage Area

Area E is secured and contains 18 general storage buildings. Scarring and probable open storage are observed in the area.

Ammunition Storage Area

Area F is double secured and contains 17 probable explosives storage buildings and 3 support buildings. The buildings are widely spaced and are separated from the surrounding area by a firebreak. The support buildings probably have a guard function.
